

Replicant - Issue #2026

Review the Samsung Galaxy Xcover Pro

04/29/2020 02:15 PM - Denis 'GNUtoo' Carikli

Status:	New	Start date:	04/29/2020
Priority:	Normal	Due date:
Assignee:		% Done:	0%
Category:	Devices	Estimated time:	0.00 hour
Target version:	Any version	Spent time:	0.00 hour
Resolution:		Grant:
Device:	New device	Type of work:	User testing
Description

History

#1 - 04/29/2020 02:18 PM - Denis 'GNUtoo' Carikli

- Assignee deleted (Denis 'GNUtoo' Carikli)

Reference: https://www.reddit.com/r/ReplicantOS/comments/fxcu9q/device_suggestion_samsung_galaxy_xcover_pro/

So far it is known to have:

- A removable battery
- An Exynos SOC

The modem isolation has not been looked at yet. For that finding / downloading / requesting the kernel source code should be sufficient.

If the device is not supported in LineageOS yet it might still be worth looking at its git repositories as something might already be there.

If not we would need to look for custom rom source code in XDA or in github.com/customroms.

If not we could still download the tarball on opensource.samsung.com but that will probably not have any git history.

#2 - 03/26/2021 04:52 PM - _I3^ RELATIVISM

this also a great device I had one for a couple years actually. the benefit is that is also waterproof etc. I lost it unfortunately.

#3 - 03/26/2021 04:52 PM - _I3^ RELATIVISM

- Type of work User testing added